A New Prince, A New Court and a Tentative Peace

By Harpy Clu

“Where have all the good men gone and where are all the Gods”

If you asked me a couple of months ago where this Domain was headed, I would have told you, oh constant reader, that this Domain was circling the drain. And at that time, I would have been correct and most would have agreed with me. But tonight is a new night so allow me, Fellow Predators, to introduce you to your new court...

Meet Prince Marcus St John, Esteemed Elder of Clan Nosferatu. Following the abdication of former Prince Fenrir Lukka, then Seneschal Marcus St John, assumed the mantle of Praxis on April 12th in the wake of the distraught Elder Gangrel's departure and then officially and uncontested on May 9th to a mostly packed Gathering. All the usual faces were there and a few new faces joined the fray. Considering the tumultuous nature of recent events, the Gathering went rather smoothly. After the New Prince formalized his Court, naming Father Elijah of the Kings to field the position of Seneschal, the night progressed swimmingly.

*Prince Marcus St John
"Allegedly"*

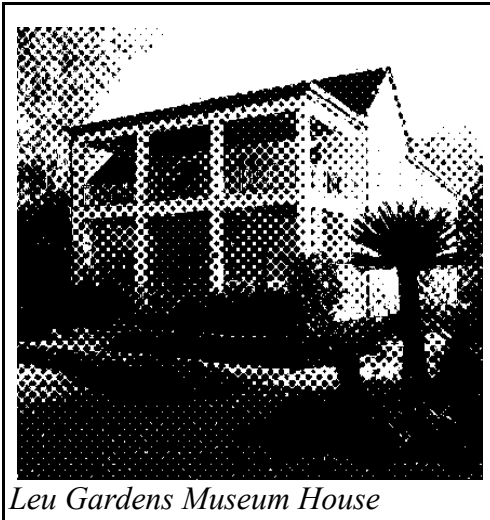

One Kindred did take umbrage with some of the Princes Changes. Former Harpy Elder Solomon Bloodsworth of the Lamia, Formally Elder Chance of the Brujah, took time to brashly, and rather rudely I may add, Lambaste our newly Crowned Prince on his decision to cede the one time Gangrel Territory of Clermont back to the Anarch movement, a territory which Former Prince Fenrir Lukka gifted to the Domain of Orlando under Former Prince The Plague when he and his line joined our ranks a little over a year ago.

Harpy Solomon was asked by Keeper Ezra to mind his tone...to which the imitation Brujah forgot he was in fact NOT an Actual Brujah and became, if you can believe it, even more abrasive not only at the Keeper but the New Prince. Unmoved by this display of childish oration, The Keeper made it clear that sort of behavior would most definitely not be tolerated and requested the former Harpy to be escorted from Elysium until such time as he could calm down. Elder Solomon did as requested peacefully and no further incidents took place.

Enter the Sabbat.

Shortly after the Former Harpies outburst, to the shock (but not surprise) of the gathered Kindred, a representative of the Sabbat made an appearance and requested Parlay with our newly Crowned Prince. With Grace and Stoic resolve, Prince Marcus entertained the poor creature, a simple Ghoul created with one purpose, to find a peaceable accord with Orlando that would see an end to the hostilities between the two Sects in the area. Prince Marcus heard the ghouls words and then politely invited the Ghoul to speak privately in a more comfortable setting to which the ghoul agreed.

The whereabouts of the Ghoul are not known at this time.

Leu Gardens Museum House

With the New Court comes a “New” Elysium...

By Harpy Clu

Fast forward one month to the June Gathering which took place at Leu Gardens. Once the Jewel of Orlando, the Museum House was the main Hub for all things social within Tower circles. But due to a series of unspeakable violations time and time again, The Former Prince Fenrir Lukka broke the chain and denied Orlando a place to gather in peace.

Now, Prince Marcus has decided the time is right for Orlando to declare a new Elysium and so, this past Gathering the Prince officially declared The Museum House an Elysium.

Now...I hear what your saying. You're saying to yourself, “Once an Elysium is violated it cant be an Elysium again” and my constant readers you would absolutely be correct. But this Museum isn't the original. See a few months back the original Leu Gardens Museum House was attacked by Sabbat (Though it was rumored to be another Nuisance) and subsequently was completely destroyed. What was declared Elysium this past Gathering is indeed a skillful facsimile, newly constructed and never before having been violated...allegedly. The legitimacy of such a move may be questioned and maybe some night the Elders may debate the practical meaning of the phrase “salting the earth” but considering things in this Domain have been so quiet recently...this Harpy isn't “Holding his breath” so to speak.

With a new Elysium comes a new Keeper and so, I would like to introduce you to Keeper Ezra of Clan Lasombra. The Keeper comes to us by way of Lady Night and her traveling Court when Ezra was called out of retirement to resume his duties as a world renowned Keeper of Elysium. This is a good move in this Humble Harpies opinion as the one thing this Domain doesn't need is another weak Keeper. And let me go ahead and say to you, my constant reader, that based on what this harpy has witnessed first hand, Keeper Ezra is not to be trifled with...unless you are really into Manga.

Throughout the evening Kindred from all walks congregated and socialized while the Primogen council met to discuss appointing a new Harpy in the wake of Elder and Former Harpy Solomon's abrupt resignation two weeks prior. The candidates, Miroslava of Clan Nosferatu and Yours truly Clu the Clanless, cast their bid for the prestigious title of Harpy and the Primogen hotly debated the pro's and con's of each. After some time the council reached a decision and the final vote was Nosferatu, Ventrue, Assamite and with a surprise reversal from Toreador in favor of Clu the Clanless. Miroslava found support within Clan Malkavian while Clan Brujah and Clan Tremere abstained by forgoing participation. As the Council meeting ran late on into the night, the Gathering just outside was winding down. Admittedly the numbers in attendance have fallen between lat months Gathering and our more recent one, but in this Harpies opinion, the kindred are just now settling into this new Orlando and the peace this new Court has brought with it. As with all things in Orlando, only time will tell if it lasts.

Law's Of Elysium:

- 1. No weapons within the grounds of Elysium unless Authorized by the Keeper. The Keeper and his Guardians are exempt from this rule*
- 2. No Werewolves, Fae or Diablarists will be permitted to enter Elysium Grounds. Violation of this tenant carries with it the penalty of Final Destruction without exception*
- 3. Destruction of Art within Elysium is strictly prohibited*
- 4. Destruction of any physical Property within Elysium will be seen as an act of Violence to which the guilty party shall replace the damaged items and owe the Keeper a Minor Boon for the Infraction*
- 5. No Hunting on Elysium Grounds*
- 6. Safe travel to and from Elysium is not granted by the Keeper but may be enforced within the Princes Courtesies*
- 7. Ghouls are allowed within Elysium as long as they are escorted. Should they stray, the Keeper advises you to pick them up in the lost and found*

There goes the Neighborhood

By Harpy Clu

I hope you have really good insurance because look who just moved in next door.

With the departure of the Former Prince and a sizable decrease in Gangrel numbers, the loss of their territory and Primogen seat, one can say that the Gangrel have had a bit of a rough go these past couple of months.

But not to worry my constant reader, the Territory isn't lost, simply re-appropriated with the blessings of our Prince.

Prince Marcus, in light of the growing Sabbat threat in Brevard, offered the one time Gangrel territory and former Anarch territory of Clermont back to the Anarchs. Now I know that Anarchs have moved into the area formally occupied by Clan Gangrel. What I cannot attest to is their exact numbers. When asked, Ambassador Nora, Formally Primogen Nora of Clan Brujah was tight lipped on the subject.

This could mean one of two things: there are one hundred and fifty of them...or five. Needless to say keep a close eye on your Children, lock up your valuables and for pete sake remember to wash your hands after each interaction...you never know where they've been.

Speaking of Ambassador Nora, your very own Harpy was witness to an altercation between Ambassador Nora and Keeper Ezra in the weeks prior to the New Elysium being declared and Ezra's appointment over it as Keeper. The altercation didn't last long, being started over a coded note left in the trash by our Fair Prince and snatched up by Ambassador Nora like a rat finding an unattended crumb of cheese.

As the Ambassador was unable to read the coded message, Ezra politely asked Nora for the coded note to which she, smugly I may add, told Ezra no.

Subsequently the request became a demand and Ambassador Nora let her Brujah nature get the better of her senses and with fists glowing with rage she swung at our future Keeper but to no avail. Her attempts to attack Keeper Ezra were impotent at best and the Keeper quickly subdued the errant Anarch, demanding that she leave at once to which she complied.

To quote the Keeper as she departed...

“I love obedient Brujah”

Ambassador Nora has since apologized to Myself and Keeper Ezra for her actions and paid a substantial Boon as recompense.

The Good, The Bad and the Horrid Form

By Harpy Clu

Now that Miami and Brevard are controlled by Sabbat one must be extra cautions when traveling. Remember to take a Safety Buddy with you, always look both ways before crossing borders and DEFINITELY don't go to Jacksonville right now. Though it is, for the moment, remaining contained within the confines of that city, the Sabbat are engaged in some sort of internal conflict that has erupted onto the streets in full view of the public, even being featured as an ongoing development on most local news outlets.

Video shows what can only be described as Horrific Creatures fighting in droves openly on the streets of Jacksonville. The office of the Harpy will keep an eye on this situation and report periodically as it develops.

If you cant beat them, Run Away...

By Harpy Clu

"Its a shame really" I thought to myself when hearing that Elder Solomon, Formally Elder Chance of Clan Brujah, threw off the Mantle of Harpy, packed up his toys and left town with his Bride to be/Shadow Baby Momma Elder Lillian Tyler. Its a Shame because honestly he left this house in disarray. This wasn't a very well planned exodus. No this was more like a "Grab what you can" type of move where you sneak out of the apartment you cant afford in the middle of the night leaving the filth and unwanted items for someone else to clean up.

So as I take stock of what needs to be addressed I am, frankly, appalled at the state of it all. Records are in a shambles, Reports haven't been filed for months, the Tower thought, up until this report is made public, that the Elder Gangrel and Former Prince is still in fact ruling over Orlando all because an Elder manipulated his way into this position where he did exactly nothing. His reports...I read them...the few that were published anyhow. I've seen better writing on men's bathroom walls proclaiming "Call xxx-xxxx for a good time". For Months Elder Solomon filled the Role of Harpy and amid the threat of Scandal, he abandons the Post, leaves the Council, The Domain and every Kindred that calls her Home in the social gutter to seek out his "Greener Pastures"

Well the Office of the Harpy wishes Elder Solomon and his Bride of Christ the absolute best. Hope you find what you are looking for...or maybe it will find you, either way from the bottom of this Harpies cold heart...don't let the door hit you in your Privileged Posteriors on your way out.

This is not to say that Elder Solomon didn't serve a vital purpose within Orlando. No he was quite influential when it came to his own wants and needs. Besides playing both sides of the fence during a time of split Domains, dealing in Boons with a Blood Hunted and Forsaken Kindred with ties to the Sabbat and throwing temper tantrums any five year old Mortal would envy...he was good in a fight.

Reading the reports of his exploits defending The Dark Carnival from an invading Sabbat horde one has to wonder...why was he not Sheriff? Why Harpy? We may never know my Friends but one thing we do know is that Elder Solomon and Elder Lillian have gone on to ply their skills somewhere else. Lets hope they find something worthwhile and they stay there, content in their Aged state.

But Elder Solomon and Elder Lillian are not the only ones to catch a bus out of town. Rumor has it that Elder Nicholi of Clan Tremere hasn't been seen in some time. Here is hoping the Primogen Agememnon can shed some light on the Elders absence.

Gone too, purportedly, is the Nuisance known affectionately a Elaine. No one has seen our favorite serial Diablarist in many weeks and through this Harpies sources, I can say that while Disney is closed...the Castle is lit up and main street is spotless despite no mortal presence to maintain the park. Disney is a truly magical place.

And what of the multitude of Anarchs formally of Brevard, now of Clermont? While I don't have exact numbers, I suspect that they are not quite the force they once were. Based on what ive read and my own personal experiences with the Movement...I would wager internal strife, warring gangs and a bit of betrayal have taken their toll. With reports of Clan Giovanni suffering from an internal coup and clandestine deals made with the Sabbat, its easy to see why most Anarchs ran for the hills.

So there you have it Orlando, all the news worth knowing over the past two months. And remember kids...

"If we don't Print it, its not worth knowing!"

Stay Classy Orlando...
