

Whispers in the Night

The Prince's Duties or Notage you decide..

by: Lisper

The Honorable Prince Marcus Saint John, has yet another dilemma knocking at his domains door. First the Anarch movement where he just let them decide how they wished to behave? Can Anarchs behave? Time will tell. Then werewolves howling and growling up to the Elysium and were allowed a private audience. How will this Prince handle the fact that one of his own just walked in and committed one of the worst crimes, the desecration of Elysium? His own clanmate walked in and without so much as a second thought slapped the crap out of Erza our loyal and honorable keeper. Will he just leave it up to the Nosferatu Clan Elder to handle? Will he just do what most of Orlando does anyway and just pretend it didn't happen? Will he kick back on his laurells and half ass his next Princely decree? Time will tell friends, time will tell. My hopes are not very high since he has already Sanctioned Elder Archangel of the Nosferatu with the right of destruction for any of the Nosferatu clan that commits a violation of the Domains rules. One does wonder, how much of is this a delegation of responsibilty and not just a lack of motivation? So is Prince Marcus Orlando Savior or just another Benaty Pagent Prince? Time will tell all.

Lack of care from the Primogen

Orlando is the city that pretends to not notice the chaos that assumes control of this domain. A council so asleep that the Harpy walks away from his position taking all the books and boon records with him lost to time.. So as such the Orlando Domain will once again enter a time where only the boons gathered for this month count. Don't like it, take it out on ex-Harpy Clu and spreading lies about Orlando. However the Primogen will go about not caring even about their lost boons. Clu will continue to set cars on fire outside the Elysium saying, "Oh but it was a Jest". No matter how disgraceful such an act might be. I don't blame him for not caring, for this city does nothing so it doesn't matter burn it all.. while the Primogen bury their heads in pillows and pretend the city isn't on fire.

*A harpy decision
Using a boon to keep a secret and then giving the secret away yourself and forcing the secret keeper to keep your secret and not paying more boons to them while you tarnish their reputation to save your own is not boon breaking. However it is highly suspect and since I have no books to prove the boon one way or the other or that the boons have not been tampered with after the Harpy left his positions and disappeared. I find I can not in good faith accept the harpy records if they are found. The record will be restarted tonight, as of now all previous boons are null and void.

I am Lisper

Hello I am Lisper and I am a real Nosferatu unlike your previous harpies, The Catiff that was really a Tremere the most despised clan in all of Orlando so despised he had to pretend to be a Catiff but that's besides the point. Or the Harpy before him Solomon that was a Brujah but actually Lamia. My plan is to be an honest but a fair Harpy and record your boons honestly and correctly. As well as interpret your news for you so you won't have to. I look forward to serving the domain.
Your eternal servant -Lisper-

A Keeper that burns down his house to spite his face!

by: Lisper

Erza our keeper was slapped in the face in Elysium by Miroslava. The Keeper decided that this was an attack to our Elysium and he did his duty, by cleansing the building with fire and salt. I can not help but wonder , if anyone besides the Keeper himself had been opened handed slapped would it still be an attack? If the Keeper and his clan had invested in any of the maintenance for the building would the reaction been the same? Alas, we will never know.

It was Erza's right and duty as Keeper and he can not be questioned. However I do have a question; What about the person that caused the action? Not the slap but the events that lead to an attack on Elysium. Are they not just as guilty? Should they not be punished just as quickly, or does simply being friendly with the Keeper get such actions swept under the rug? Again only time will time..

Miroslava

Drugs are Bad for you

Even the best and brightest this world has to offer are affected by drugs, and their madness and lack of self control. Miroslava went from being smart and crazy like a fox, to being so burnt out that he could no longer control himself. That a harmless and simple prank sent him spiraling to commit a violation of the most sacred Kindred Traditions that predate even the Camarilla. Well, I can only assume it was the drugs that drove one so young so insane so soon. However I believe all restrooms in the domain from here on out should be called Slavas.. I can only hope that the Kindly Prince Marcus and the do nothing Primogen will actually step up and save Orlando this time. In my opinion the traitor of my blood and of our Domain should have his heart carved out and fed to himself with a spoon, but even that may probe too kind.

****OOO Disclaimer*****

I want to put here that the player Hash did the absolute best job he could with the Harpy logs he inherited. However they were much abused by Harpies before him and it was thought that restarting Orlando with boons only from this month would be the best course. Sorry for any and all inconvenience.

Lukas the Toreador Only Honorable Primogen Left

by: Lisper

Lukas Gadow has dealt with the city of Orlando for so long that most can not remember a time that he did not sit as Primogen on the council. Lukas seems to be the only voice of reason in the city. After all he is the longest residing resident currently in Orlando. However, his council falls on deaf ears. Not one single other Primogen listens, perhaps this is why he never puts the powder away. For his voice can not be heard above the noise everyone else is making. Since nothing ever gets done and no one listens better to have something to keep the brain fires numb, then to listen to the endless dribble of nothingness and the empty promises of the other clans. I can't help but wonder if the Elders knew how utterly incompetent there Primogens were if they wouldn't replace them. I also can't help wonder if the Toreador knew how great of a primogen they had they would not use him more wisely.

Other notable things about Lukas Gadow is his beautiful playing of the violin, if you have not heard him play you should.

If you have not paid him to hear him play then you are on the verge of being dishonorable for only the most honorable of clans and beings have had this master play for them in a private setting. Are you worthy? His playing is as close to the light as you're getting, without actually going.

Lukas has also been taking an interest in our cities members, even those that his clan consider beneath themselves (which to a Toreador is everyone). He has been giving lessons of all sorts and hopefully reaping plenty of rewards, rumor has it he has even been patiently teaching Lady Charlotte to read so that she can be a proud member of our city. Congrats Lady Charlotte for continuing your education!

-Wild Rumors Running Free-
Gangrel clan Difficulties abound. Clu proved that the Tremere blood is terrible and should be banned from Orlando. Bodies with no blood being found on the ground just lying about. Good looking Italians landing in Orlando by the dozen.

Media Madness: Diamante di Mezanotte is all over the place you can't miss her, whether it is modeling the new fall look, getting her hair done by MANDO! Tweeting the masses, or sharing her life on TikTok.. Diamante is here and rocking the netlife.

Harpy awards :
Lukas Gladgow Honorable -see article
Charlotte- Honorable for furthering education
Erza-Loyal for protection of Elysium

Prince Awards:
Erza -Honorable for services to Elysium.
Archangel – Sanctioned for dealing with Miroslava.

